DRAFT DISTURBANCES.—On Saturday last, as Lieut. NATHANIEL DAVIS and ALVIN CORTRIGHT were engaged in serving notices on the drafted men in the southern part of this town, they were confronted by a woman of some seventy years of age, in one instance—a Mrs. Fox, the mother of a young man who had been drafted—who commanded them leave her premises under no less penalty than being treated to a pail of hot water, with which she had armed herself. They succeeded, however, in leaving the notice, with the aid of their revolvers, which were relieved of a charge a piece,—one being fired through the window—when they made their escape. A mile further on they were fired upon from a piece of woods, and one of the horses instantly killed; whereupon they mounted the live horse and returned to town. Subsequently, on the second day, they went back with reinforcements and captured three young men—Alden Goodspeed, Edwin Briggs, and a young Mr. Wilbur—neither of whom, we are assured had anything more to do with the shooting affair, than the man in the moon, whilst the two former, at any rate, are of highly respectable families and exceedingly good character. On Monday the old lady Mrs. Fox, was captured, brought to town and kept under military surveillance until Tuesday evening, when the Provost Marshal suffered her to return to her home, whether on her parole of honor or unconditionally, we are not informed. The young men Goodspeed and Briggs—are awaiting an examination before a U. S. Commissioner at Canandaigua, to which place they were taken by Deputy Marshal HARRISON COREY.

—Since the above was in type we hear the specific charge against Mrs. Fox was throwing hot water on the young men who called to notify her son that he was drafted; and that she was finally discharged on giving her parole of honor that she would refrain from throwing hot water for the next ninety days.—Owego Gazette.
