

Company E, of the Ulster Guard went into the Gettysburgh battles with an aggregate of twenty-three men, in command of Lieutenant Brankstone. The last day of the fight the company was composed of four men, in command of Lieutenant Merritt, Lieutenant Brankstone having been killed the first day.

FUNERAL OF A SOLDIER.—The remains of the late Lieut. Bloomfield, of Company E, Fourteenth Brooklyn regiment, were on Sunday, 31st ult. consigned to their last resting place in Cypress Hills Cemetery. The funeral ceremonies were conducted at No. 9 Liberty street, Brooklyn, by the Rev. Mr. De Haas, who preached a fitting and eloquent discourse on the occasion. The deceased was wounded in the last assault upon Fredricksburgh, and died from the injuries then sustained. He was a corporal when the regiment first left home, and participated in every battle in which it was engaged. He was promoted for good conduct and bravery. The remains were escorted to the cemetery by the members of the Fourteenth now in the city, the exempts of the same organization, and the Twenty-third regiment, National Guard, accompanied by a very large concourse of citizens. A band of music preceded the military. The police, under charge of Sergt. Boyd, escorted the cortege to the Four Mile House, on Fulton avenue, where stages were in readiness to convey the remains and members of the regiment to the cemetery.

Colonel Pratt's Men.

About one hundred of Colonel Pratt's men go forward to-day with the Vermont regiment.

OUT AGAIN.—We observed Capt. Alexander, of the 20th regiment, N. Y. S. M., out on the street yesterday. He is unable to walk without the use of crutches.

Of the members of the 20th Regiment, N. Y. S. M., the names of about 200 have been returned to the War Department as deserters.

May 1, 1861.

THE ULSTER COUNTY REGIMENT.

Col. Pratt's Regiment attracted crowds to the Park Barracks all day yesterday, and the guards had plenty of work to keep the inquisitive outsiders from entirely overrunning the quarters. During the forenoon, the several companies paraded for drill, and were watched with much interest by the crowds, which cheered their movements repeatedly. In the afternoon, the regiment was the recipient of a donation of tobacco, sufficient for a month's ration.

EIGHTIETH REGIMENT.—The Company applications for the organization of the above regiment have been sent to Albany, corrected, and will be issued immediately. The commissions for the line officers will be forwarded with the charter for the commands, when an election will probably be held for Colonel. It is designed to hold a parade of the regiment on the 17th instant, the occasion of a parade of the Third Brigade and a review to Governor Seymour.

Lieut. Dean of Company B, 20th regiment, fell dead while conversing with a Hospital Surgeon in the streets of Alexandria one day last week. He is believed to have been poisoned.

THE TWENTIETH REGIMENT.

Yesterday morning great bustle and excitement were visible at the barracks in the Park, where the Twentieth regiment, Col. George W. Pratt, of Ulster county, is quartered. While the officers were at their breakfast the command to get into marching order was issued, and in a short time the regiment was in readiness to break up of a camp ensued. The surgeons set to work packing up their medical stores, the Quartermaster bundled up his papers, recruited their blankets and stowed them away under the cover of their koozaks, those not having the last named article strapped their blankets around their bodies, and long before the hour appointed to be in readiness the regiment was in complete marching order. At eleven o'clock the command to march was given, and the regiment mustered and passed in review, Col. Pratt being the Inspector. After going through numerous evolutions in the manual of arms, the command was dismissed and returned to barracks. The sudden order to break up camp was given to try the command in how short a time they could get ready in case of an emergency, and the celerity with which the regiment was turned out on this occasion elicited the encomiums of the commanding officer. During the forenoon Brigadier General Ewen visited the barracks, as well as a large number of friends of the regiment from Ulster county. Commissary William Lounsbery, of the Twentieth regiment, is the editor and proprietor of the Ulster Republican, of Kingston, this State, and has forsaken business, home and family to serve his country in this time of need. There are also a number of other gentlemen connected with the press attached to this, the crack regiment of the Third division.

It is very probable that the regiment will leave here on Saturday in one of the government steam transports, as the troops are becoming restive and eager to be mustered into service. In addition to the well stocked commissariat, twenty patent camp stores have been purchased, which are packed in large barrels and labelled with the letter of each company.

THE TWENTIETH REGIMENT.—The Rondout Freeman says: "On the formation of the Twentieth Regiment for three years, or the war, Ellenville contributed one full company of as hardy and stalwart fellows as ever shouldered rifles. Of this band of patriots only nine can be mustered fit for duty. Such are the vicissitudes of war!"

THE PARK BARRACKS.

The Twentieth (Ulster county) Regiment, which arrived in the city on Sunday night and temporarily occupied the armories over Centre Market, marched from their quarters last evening to the Park Barracks, which they will occupy till they receive orders to march.

It was intended to use these barracks only as a feeding place for regiments in transitu to Washington; but they have been fitted with arrangements for sleeping, and are, perhaps, the most comfortable of the city barracks. The cooking arrangements are complete, and sufficient for three times the number of men now quartered in the barracks.

DOCTOR ROBERT LOUGHRAN, of the twentieth regiment, has charge of Seminary Hill hospital, at Gettysburg, one of the largest hospitals at that place. He has the sole management of this retreat for our sick soldiers.

The Battle near Gettysburg.

The Battle in Pennsylvania, which has been the fiercest of the whole campaign, has culminated in the complete victory of the Union troops. The latest dates give us the gratifying news that the enemy having made a stand at the Potomac, which they had failed in crossing, were routed in dismay, the troops being panic struck, scattering in all directions. From an eye witness of the battle, we have been furnished with the following list of killed and wounded in the late Battles in Pennsylvania, of those who had enlisted from Greene County, and were attached to the 20th and 120th Regiments:

- 20TH REGIMENT, N. Y. S. M.
- Capt. J. G. Corbin, killed.
- Capt. Baldwin, do.
- Lieut. Bragston, do.
- Lieut. Merritt, severely wounded.
- Capt. McMahon, leg shot off.
- Lieut. J. M. Young, wounded in face and arm.
- Lieut. Mulks, wounded in leg.
- Capt. Alexander, do.
- Lieut. Dileroy, do.
- Capt. Cunningham, do.
- Lieut. Fleming, wounded.
- Lieut. Tanner, severely wounded.
- Adj. J. M. Schoemaker, Jr., wounded in hip.

ROBERT LOUGHRAN, of Saugerties, surgeon of the twentieth regiment, N. Y. S. M., was taken prisoner by the rebels during the late battle of Gettysburgh and held as such for three days, during which time they robbed him of his clothes, surgical instruments and his two horses. The instruments were taken from him while he was operating on one of our wounded.

Company E, of the Ulster Guard went into the Gettysburgh battle with an aggregate of twenty-three men in command of Lieutenant Brankston. The last day of the fight the company was composed of four men, in command of Lieutenant Merritt, Lieut. Brankston having been killed the first day.

THE NEW FLAG presented to the twentieth regiment by the ladies of Saugerties, is already perforated with over twenty bullet-holes.

Arrived in Town.

Col. T. B. Gates, of the 20th Regiment N. Y. S. M., arrived at his home, in this village, on Friday evening last. We never saw him looking better.

COLONEL GATES informs The Kingston Journal that the twentieth regiment has again been assigned to duty in the provost marshal general's department, of the army of the Potomac. The colonel says: "We came down from Berlin with seven hundred and twenty-four prisoners of war, whom we turned over to the provost marshal of Washington yesterday, and to-morrow we start on our return to the army, which we shall probably find some where in Virginia. I enclose you a little item from The Washington Chronicle of July 19."

ULSTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—The Ulster Historical Society met at the Court House, on Monday, the 8th inst., pursuant to announcement. The attendance was not as large as desired ; business was transacted, and the society adjourned to the 24th inst. The address, commemorative of the late Col. George W. Pratt, by Rev. Mr. Temple, of Esopus, will be delivered in the evening. It is to be hoped that our citizens will honor the occasion with a general attendance.

Lieut. J. Ross Horner.

It was the intention of the "E. C." Fraternity to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of Lieut. Horner at the proper time, but by some oversight the matter was passed. During a visit of Capt. A. N. Baldwin to the 144th last winter, we learned many particulars relating to the military career of our friend, all tending to the highest estimate of his merits as a brave soldier and a true patriot. His high worth, though unknown to some who met him while here, leaves a precious legacy to his many friends and associates both in the army and in civil life.

Whereas, In the mysterious workings of Divine Providence, the Almighty has seen fit to take unto Himself one of our members—Lieut. J. Ross Horner, 20th N. Y. S. M., who fell bravely fighting upon the disastrous battle-field of Bull Run, on the 30th August, 1862, we in respect and honor to our departed brother, do adopt the following resolutions:

Resolved, That brother Horner has been in honorable standing as a member of the E. C. Fraternity, and a true and faithful brother to our Order, and that we deeply mourn his loss and commemorate his many virtues.

Resolved, That although our hearts are filled with sadness, yet we are cheered by the consolation that he fell like a true patriot and soldier, with his face to the foe.

Resolved, That we extend our heart-felt sympathy to the aged father and relatives of the deceased, and that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to them, and also that they be inserted in the public prints.

Thomas Wells, son of Mr. George Wells, of St. James street, in this village, a member of the 20th Regiment, N. Y. S. M., wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Gettysburgh, has arrived home. He was paroled almost immediately after being taken prisoner. He has since been exchanged. He was wounded by a musket ball which lodged near the spine.

A SPLENDID TESTIMONIAL TO COL. THEO. B. GATES.

Some time ago, a plan was agreed upon by one or two prominent individuals in this village, by which the citizens of Kingston, Rondout and Saugerties might have an opportunity of manifesting their high appreciation of the merits of Col. Theodore B. Gates, both as a soldier and gentleman. The plan was for raising a certain amount of money, and expending the same for a sword, sash, shoulder straps, spurs, &c.

Wm. M. Hayes, of this village, called upon numerous citizens in the aforesaid villages, and speedily raised the desired amount. The money being collected, a meeting of the subscribers was held in this village in the afternoon of August 1st, at which Erastus Cook, Esq. was made Chairman, and Wm. M. Hayes appointed Secretary. On motion Brig. Gen. Samson and Wm. M. Hayes were appointed a Committee to purchase the aforesaid articles, to be presented to Col. Gates, and that Hon. Wm. B. Wright be requested to present the same.

Accordingly, the above Committee proceeded to New York, and called upon Messrs. Fitch & Waldo, No. 15 Maiden Lane, and left their orders for the above articles.

On Friday last, Mr Hayes received the following letter:

New-York, Aug. 1st.
Mr. Wm. M. HAYES, Kingston, N. Y.:—Dear Sir, we hand you bill of Presentation Sword, &c., sent this afternoon to your address, per American Express.

We have taken a great deal of pains in getting up the different articles. They are elegant, and we are confident they will meet your entire approbation.

Yours respectfully,

FITCH & WALDO.

They were received on Friday, and placed in the show-window of Charles B. Safford's Jewelry store, on exhibition, and are as follows:

SURGEON LOUGHAN.—Robert Loughran, of Saugerties, Surgeon of the 20th Regiment, N. Y. S. M., was taken prisoner by the rebels during the late battle of Gettysburgh and held as such for three days, during which time they robbed him of his clothes, surgical instruments and his two horses. The instruments were taken from him while he was operating on one of our wounded.

Dr. L. is now in charge of Seminary Hill Hospital, the largest one at Gettysburgh, and the report of those of this village who have been on to the battle-field, that it is the best conducted and cleanest Hospital in that vicinity, speaks well for Dr. L. who has the sole management of the institution.— [Telegraph.

Casualties of Our Regiments.

Elsewhere we publish such accounts of the victories gained by Gen. Meade, as the short time allowed us to collect the details, would permit. Annexed hereto will be found the names of those soldiers from Ulster and vicinity, who have been killed and wounded.

Our county is in deep mourning. Who within her limits has not lost a friend? Our rejoicings rise with the magnitude of the victory, but our sorrow sharpens and deepens with the bitterness of our personal losses.

Gloom rests thick on many a household in Old Ulster. Self-sacrificing wives, fathers and mothers have met with the greatest bereavement of their lives. Brothers and sisters see in horrid imagination, ghastly forms of men bound to them by the tenderest childhood associations. Children are now tasting for the first time the gall and wormwood pressed to the Nation's lips.

By rebel hands our brothers died. By rebel hands our brothers have been bruised and wounded. The instigators of secession and their abettors, North and South, are guilty of their injuries and their blood. A damnable curse is upon them; and each one carries in his soul a stain that all oceans of water can never wash out.

Peace to the memories, felicity to the spirits, of those who laid down their lives in repelling rebel invasion. Universal gratitude, life long honor, to those who, scarred or maimed, passed through the harvest of death.

LOCAL RECORD.

MANUSCRIPT PAPERS.

Col. Pratt and His Command.

No. 4.

We give this week a condensed record of the doings of the Twentieth up to its first regular fight with the rebels.

Enlistments for the three years service, in the 20th Regiment commenced on the 5th day of October 1861. On the 25th day of October, 1861, it marched from Kingston, en route for the seat of war, and reached Washington on the 7th. On the 28th it went to camp near Washington, on Kalorama Heights. At this time it
