

the infantry. The enemy's position for the defense of Aibonito, as was evident from the inspection of it that I could then make, and confirmed by reconnoissances during the 10th and 11th, was one of unusual natural strength. The military road leading up from Coamo runs for about four miles in a direction a little east of north on the left bank of the cañon of the Coamo river; thence it runs north-east to Abionito. Upon its left is the main divide of the mountain chain crossing the island from east to west. Aibonito is situated in a pocket in the hills of the northern slope. About two and one-half miles northwest of the town, and on the main divide, is Asomante hill and El Penon, constituting a position of great natural strength. Upon the summit of El Penon and Asomante batteries had been erected, and on the slope below them infantry intrenchments, completely sweeping the highway with a plunging fire for several miles."
