

The Homeward March.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND TENTH NEW-YORK—ARRIVAL AND RECEPTION OF THE FIFTEENTH NEW-YORK HEAVY ARTILLERY—EXPECTED ARRIVALS.

The One Hundred and Tenth New-York Volunteers, commanded by Col. C. HAMILTON, numbering five hundred and fifty officers and men, arrived in this city on a transport, last Thursday, from Tallahassee, Florida, where the regiment has been doing duty for some months past. No delay was made here, as they immediately after landing embarked on the steamer Thomas P. Way for Albany, en route to Syracuse, near which place the One Hundred and Tenth was raised, in the Summer of 1863, and where they will receive their final discharge.

THE FIFTEENTH NEW-YORK HEAVY ARTILLERY.

The Fifteenth New-York Heavy Artillery Regiment, numbering 986 men and about 50 officers, under command of Col. M. WIEDRICH, arrived in this city at 7 o'clock on Friday evening, and remained all night at the Battery Barracks. Yesterday morning the regi-
