The Forty-Sixth Annual Reunion of the Saratoga Regiment
the
77th NEW YORK
3d
Infantry Volunteers
of 1861-65
Grand Army Hall
Saratoga Springs, N.Y.
Thursday, September 19th, 1918
Julia Ward Howe and her husband in the closing days of 1861 watched a review of the Army of the Potomac, on the Virginia side of the river. A sudden attack by the enemy interrupted the manoeuvers and delayed the return of the party, who beguiled away the time by singing "John Brown's Body" and the soldiers took up the refrain. The swinging verses sung by the marching throng greatly impressed Mrs. Howe. "Awakening before dawn the next morning I found myself seeking to give form and shape to certain lines that seemed capable of being sung to the 'John Brown' music. Line after line shaped itself in my mind; when I had thought out the five verses, I sprang out of bed and in the dim, gray light found a pen and paper whereon I wrote scarcely seeing them, the lines of the poem as it now stands."

Just before the Grand Review in Washington, of the Union soldiers at the close of the war in 1865, a single company, each man carrying a lighted candle started in procession through the camps at Alexandria. Regiments, battalions and brigades caught the infection, and fifty thousand candles at once glimmered and danced in every direction, winding like a fiery serpent over the hills and stretching out in a sea of flaming dots as far as the eye could reach.

Dedicated to my Comrades of the G. A. R.; and all loyal Citizens.

ALL SING

AMERICA

My country, 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died, land of the pilgrim's pride
From ev'ry mountainside let freedom ring!

Let music swell the breeze, and ring from all the trees,
Sweet freedom's song;
Long may our land be bright, with freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might, Great God, our King!

ALL SING

auld lang syne

And here's a hand, my trusty frien'
And gie's a hand ot thine;
We'll tak' a cup a' kindness yet,
For Auld Lang Syne.

Benediction

MARCHING THROUGH GEORGIA

Bring the good old bugle, boys, we'll sing another song
Sing it with a spirit that will start the world along.
Sing it as we used to sing it fifty thousand strong
While we were marching through Georgia.

CHORUS

Hurrah! Hurrah, we bring the jubilee!
Hurrah! Hurrah! THE FLAG that makes us free!
So we sang the chorus from Atlanta to the Sea,
While we were marching through Georgia.

“Sherman's dashing Yankee boys will never reach the coast!”
So the saucy rebels said, and 'twas a handsome boast.
Had they not forgot, alas! To reckon with the host?
While we were marching through Georgia.
